Education and the Crisis of Public Values

Challenging the Assault on Teachers, Students, and Public Education
SECOND EDITION

By Henry A. Giroux

PB | 978-1-4331-3067-0 | Counterpoints; v. 493

Updated with both a new introduction and a series of interviews, the second edition of Education and the Crisis of Public Values examines American society's shift away from democratic public values, the ensuing move toward a market-driven mode of education, and the last decade's growing social disinvestment in youth. The book discusses the number of ways that the ideal of public education as a democratic public sphere has been under siege, including full-fledged attacks by corporate interests on public school teachers, schools of education, and teacher unions. It also reveals how a business culture cloaked in the guise of generosity and reform has supported a charter school movement that aims to dismantle public schools in favor of a corporate-friendly privatized system. The book encourages educators to become public intellectuals, willing to engage in creating a formative culture of learning that can nurture the ability to defend public and higher education as a general good—one crucial to sustaining a critical citizenry and a democratic society.

Curriculum

Decanonizing the Field

Edited by João M. Paraskeva & Shirley R. Steinberg
PB | $45.95 | 978-1-4331-1421-2 | Counterpoints; v. 491

Curriculum: Decanonizing the Field is a fresh and innovative collection that is concerned with the totalitarian Western Eurocentric Cult that has dominated the field of curriculum studies. Contributors to this volume challenge dominant and counter-dominant curriculum positions of the Western Eurocentric epistemic platform. Curriculum: Decanonizing the Field is a clarion call against curriculum epistemicides, proposing the use of Itinerant Curriculum Theory (ICT), which opens up the canon of knowledge; challenges and destroys the coloniality of power, knowledge and being; and transforms the very idea and practice of power. The volume is essential reading for anyone involved in one of the most important battles for curriculum relevance—the fact that there is no social justice without cognitive justice.

Latinas/os on the East Coast

A Critical Reader

Edited by Yolanda Medina & Ángeles Donoso Macaya
PB | $59.95 | 978-1-4331-2408-2 | Critical Studies of Latino/as in the Americas; 1

Latinas/os on the East Coast: A Critical Reader provides a comprehensive overview of established and contemporary research and essays written about communities that represent the Latino/a diaspora on the East Coast of the United States. It is an indispensable resource for scholars, researchers, educators, undergraduate and graduate students, as well as any individual, group, or organization interested in issues that affect Latino/as in the United States in current times.

Pedagogy of Insurrection

From Resurrection to Revolution

By Peter McLaren
PB | 978-1-4331-2896-7 | Counterpoints; v. 478

Peter McLaren, named Outstanding Educator in America by the Association of Educators of Latin America and the Caribbean in 2013 and winner of numerous awards for his scholarship and international political activism, has penned another classic work with Pedagogy of Insurrection. Ana Maria Araújo (Nita) Freire credits Peter as one of the architects of what has come to be known as critical pedagogy, and that Paulo Freire named his 'intellectual cousin'. McLaren has consistently produced iconoclastic work that has been heralded by educators worldwide as among some of the most significant commentary on the state of education.
